Grassroots
Challenge

Why not give your expedition a really engaging and valuable aim – Wildlife Observation!

Ulster Wildlife's Grassroots Challenge programme is all about connecting young people and the natural world. Our Wildlife Expedition Pack and associated training sessions will give your group members everything they need to make wildlife observation and recording their expedition aim.

Grassroots Challenge staff can be booked to provide a one hour indoor introduction session to the pack as well as a longer outdoor practical session during one of your practice expedition trips. Staff will also provide you with a manageable list of Wildlife species to look out for based on your expedition route, time of year and Award level. Results recorded during your expedition go in to an online database, thereby making a genuine contribution to scientific knowledge about Wildlife distribution. Thanks to National Lottery funding the training sessions are free of charge. A £25 returnable deposit is required for use of the pack. All Award Group members that use the pack are issued with a special Expedition section certificate from Ulster Wildlife.
